

Patriot Rail Videography and Photography Policy and Practice

Patriot Rail allows safe videography and photography activity near railroad tracks with proper written approval and safety measures. The company understands that trains have been a critical part of our country's history and movies, documentaries, and television shows are often popular medians to share those stories. Our top priority is safety. The company will only consider video and photo requests that demonstrate or promote proper railroad operations and the public safely crossing or at a clear distance from the tracks.

Please remember it is dangerous to be on or near railroad tracks or other railroad property. The location and type of request must be reviewed and approved by Patriot Rail.

The company requires an official request in writing to be reviewed and approved by the railroad management prior to accessing any railroad property. Any access without the written approval of the railroad constitutes trespassing and could result in injury or death.
